

Held on Blackmail Charge*Newark Man Accused of Threat to Blow Up Home

Samuel Markowitz, of 112 Watkins Avenue, Newark, who was held for the grand jury in that city yesterday charged with attempted blackmail, is accused of being the author of letters received by Adolph Hollander, a fur manufacturer, threatening to blow up his home at 616 High Street, Newark, unless the writer received $4,000. Mr. Hollander, on the advice of the police, addressed a reply to "S. Martin." When Markowitz called for the letter for "S. Martin" he was placed under arrest. Bail was fixed at $10,000.
